Overview

Unit Description

The traditional concepts of respect and sharing, that form the foundation of the Aboriginal way of all life, are built around the seven natural laws or sacred teachings. Each teaching honours one of the basic virtues that are necessary for a full and healthy life. Each can be seen as an animal to point out that all our actions and decisions affect the world we live in. The animal world taught man how to live close to the earth. For those who follow the traditional Aboriginal way, the respect for all life is based in this connection between the animal world, man and the environment.

ACTIVITY 1: Word List Review

- Please read the words for this lesson on your own or with help from the teacher or another learner.
- Think about what each word means. If you don't know some of the words you can use your dictionary to find the meaning. Talk about them with the teacher or with one of the other learners.
- Write the words and definitions (what they mean) in your word notebook.

Suggested Word List for Lesson 8:

downstream	poisonous	flounder	ferns	creation
strength	dangerous	cattail	destroy	defeat

ACTIVITY 2: Prior Knowledge

- Take a look at the Chart below and think about what you know about Bravery. You can do this on your own or with help from the teacher or one of the other learners in your class. If you have any questions about what to do, please ask your teacher for help.

Prior Knowledge Chart

Questions to think about	Some things you can do
What do you know about truth? In your life have you experienced time when it was difficult to be truthful? Do you have any questions about this topic before you begin reading the legend?	Share what you know or have heard about wisdom with the class. Ask any questions you have about respect and what it means.
Do you have any personal experience with other kinds of teachings?	Talk about your experiences when the teacher asks the group to participate.
Do you think this legend is important to the Anishnawbek people? Why?	Talk about this with your class and teacher.
Go back and look at your word list. If there are any you are not sure about, this would be a good time to ask the teacher.	You can ask any questions you have about the words and try to help the others with ones they don't know.

ACTIVITY 3: Read Text (Legend)

- Look at the Reading Chart below. It shows different ways to learn about new stories you are reading. If you need help, please ask your teacher or another learner.
- Read legend, Koluskap and Malsom, or the one your teacher gives you. You can read it by yourself, with some of the other learners or the teacher may be able to help you.
- Circle any words they you don't know yet or are not sure about

Reading Chart

Reading Strategy	You Might say	What You can do
Predicting: thinking about what is going to happen next in a story.	"I think this will happen next in the story."	Try to predict what will happen. Ask questions to help you learn about predicting.
Questioning: asking about what happened in the story or legend.	"I wonder why that happened?"	Ask questions as you read or hear the story.
Activating Prior Knowledge: use what you already know to try to understand the story or legend.	"I remember when this happened to me."	Try to relate the story to things that have happened in your life.

Inferencing: trying to figure out what will happen by using clues from the story.	“I think it will end this way because.”	Be a detective and use clues from the story to figure out what is going to happen.
Self-Monitoring: did you understand the story?	“I understand what is happening in the story.”	Ask yourself if it made sense – do you understand the story?
Adjusting: when you have to slow down and sound words out that you don’t know.	“I am going to slow down because the words are getting harder to read.”	Ask for help with any words that are hard to read.
Rereading: when you read a story again, it gets easier to understand.	“I want to read this again because I didn’t understand all of the story.”	Sometimes you just need to read something a couple of times until it makes more sense.
Decoding: tricks for reading new words by using different tools like sounding them out and remembering what the word looks like.	“I know what this word is or means because”	Use tips you get from your teacher and from other learners.

ACTIVITY 4: After Reading Discussion

- Please review and discuss any words that have been circled in the text. This can be done with your teacher, partner or small group.
- Discuss your feelings or perceptions of the text (legend) with your teacher, partner or small group.
